Simply the BEST

Simply the Best is not only a cliche' but also a standard for Itawamba Community College. Seventy-five percent of Northeast Mississippi valedictorians and salutatorians choose to further their education at ICC.

Improvements continue to be made on both the Fulton and Tupelo campuses.

This year, 16 new instructors joined the ICC family of highly qualified educators.

Students at the Fulton campus took advantage of the I Can Learn lab to build a foundation in math before tackling college algebra.

ICC strives for excellence not only in the classroom but also in the community.

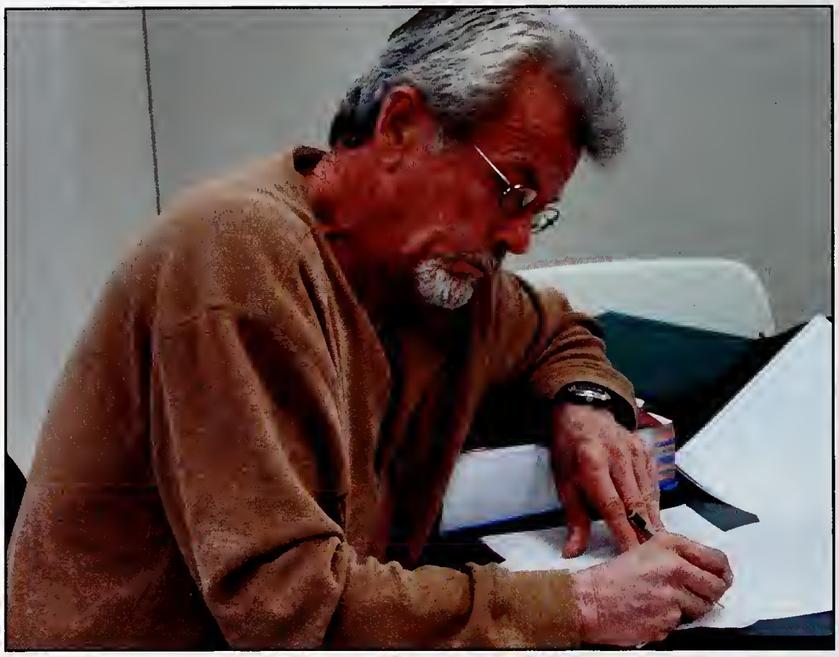
In conjunction with the Salvation Army, ICC students and faculty helped Hurricane Katrina victims by sending goods, donations and offering temporary "home" to some of the students who were displaced by the storm on the Gulf Coast.

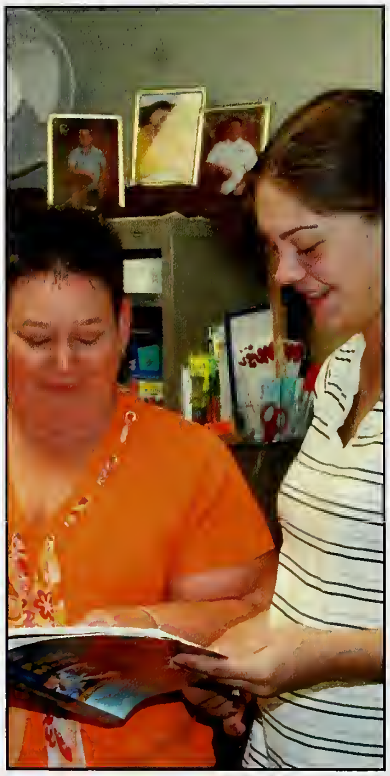
STARTing Over

All students have a fresh opportunity as soon as they enter the doors at the Fulton and Tupelo campuses.

New teachers, classes, peers and surroundings are part of their new start as well as a chance to begin work toward their future.

Students who come to ICC straight from high school have the freedom to begin their adult lives.





Above, Gary Heard completes paperwork. Associate degree nursing instructor Tamar Lucas and Kathleen Riley discuss a nursing assignment.

To encourage good study habits and efficient time management, ICC student services personnel teach “The Best Start” class to entering freshmen. All resident students are required to take the eight-week class.

In addition, non-traditional students or those older than “just out of high school” begin a new chapter of their lives. To assist them with adjusting to the college schedule and networking with their peers, ICC offers an organization entitled Slightly Older Students or S.O.S. as it’s better known. Students meet regularly to swap experiences or to learn more about college life.

HERE and Now

ICC offers an education for anyone willing to work for it. To assist students in their efforts, ICC offers classes at off-campus sites throughout its five-county district as well as distance learning to enable more flexible opportunities.

In order to maintain the College's technological advancement, new computers were added to the Learning Resource Center.

Dennis Coleman performs with the Percussion Ensemble.

In addition E-mail was named as the "official" communication source.

Even though ICC provides quality education, its opportunities are not limited to classroom learning experiences.

Everyone had an opportunity this year to participate in clubs or organizations as well as in intramural sports.

During 2005-06 students chose to play volleyball, attend such events as the Baptist Student Union water party to kick off the fall semester as well as various concerts and the fall dinner theatre production of "Daddy's Dyin. . .Who's Got the Will?"

Growth continues

Since its opening 58 years ago, Itawamba Community College has continued growth and progress. The College has expanded not only in quantity, but also in quality.

A wide variety of majors, classes and instructors continued to offer students freedom of choice. With the Quality Enhancement Plan, ICC continued its focus on improvement of study by engaging students in active learning. After grueling hours of classroom lectures, homework and studying, students relaxed and became involved in intramurals, organizations or just spent time together.

It didn't take long for students who came to ICC in the fall to wear the red and blue.

The Fun Starts Here

After class, what?

Although education is the key element of attending ICC, most students would agree that there is more to college than the classroom.

This year students participated in their favorite hobbies including ultimate Frisbee, dancing in the courtyard or intramural sports or simply hanging out with their friends. Others worked out in the campus fitness center or took a more "laid back" approach to relaxation such as watching television, talking on the phone or playing on the computer.

In the spirit

Itawamba Community College takes great pride in its students' school spirit, which is displayed in various ways. ICC students are aware that they don't have to enjoy sports to take pride in the College.

School spirit at ICC may be something as simple as wearing the red and blue to class, shopping, performing community service or relaxing in the residence halls.

Other students show school spirit by attendance at athletic events, band or other concerts and even telling others about Itawamba Community College.

There are countless ways that ICC students and faculty show their spirit. How do you show yours?

Here and Now

Changes

Itawamba Community College is constantly changing. . .facilities are being improved and programs and courses are updated to better prepare students either for work or college transfer.

Work continued this year on the Quality Enhancement Plan, which is a vital part of the College's reaffirmation of accreditation by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. Construction on the 8,000 square foot Davis Event Center, which will house an arena and fitness center, progressed below the bluff.

The delivery system of education is changing at ICC with more evening classes and online instruction. Tuition, however, remained the same.

Work continues on the Davis Events Center which will host ICC's basketball games and special events.

Instruction at the Tupelo campus combines both classroom and hands-on techniques.

Facilities and programs

Jan Reid-Bunch, dean of academic instruction, was named to Mississippi's Top 40 Under 40.

Dr. David Cole, ICC president, has been instrumental in the development of the Mississippi Corridor Consortium, which unites the efforts of ICC, Northeast and East Mississippi.

Dr. Ellene McCrimon coordinates the distance learning programs in which growth has accelerated over the past two years.

Dr. Judy Woods, director of institutional advancement, is spearheading the effort for the Quality Enhancement Plan.

On a mission

Itawamba Junior College, which was established as an extension of Itawamba Agricultural High School, opened its doors in 1948. Since that time the name has been changed to Itawamba Community College, but the mission has remained basically the same — affordable education “close to home.”

Doctors, lawyers, engineers, educators, entrepreneurs and pro athletes are part of the fabric of Itawamba Community College. Many of them have roots in the five-county district and credit the College with providing a foundation so that they could obtain their best start.

In the headlines

Students at Itawamba Community College consistently earn honors worthy of headlines in the media.

Beginning with Homecoming, ICC students elected nine women for the court, which claimed the spotlight during halftime of the ICC/Mississippi Delta game, October 15.

Forty-nine contestants competed for the Most Beautiful crown on October 25.

Other names in the news were the 71 students who were named to Who's Who Among American Junior Colleges and the eight academic and career students who were selected by faculty for Hall of Fame.

Additional newsmaking events were graduation, Honors Day and Indian Week.

Itawamba Community College celebrated Homecoming 2005, October 15, with an Oktoberfest theme.

Wayne Booker of Memphis, Tenn. and Joey Cox of Fulton were inducted into ICC's Athletic Hall of Fame during a 1 p.m. reception at the Student Services Building. Alumnus of the Year Rubye Del Harden of Tupelo was also honored at the reception.

The court, which was elected by students on both the Fulton and Tupelo campuses, was presented just prior to the 3 p.m. game with the Mississippi Delta Trojans.

Oktoberfest

The week prior to Homecoming 2005 at Itawamba Community College was packed with activities at both the Fulton and Tupelo campuses.

Students in residence halls and organizations began painting signs that focused on the Oktoberfest theme, October 11.

Wednesday's Fulton campus schedule included a hot dog cookout and eating contest and "Dunk a Coach" for the hurricane relief fund.

Thursday, a pep rally at the Tupelo campus featured the presentation of the Homecoming court. At the Fulton campus, a "Decorate Your Car" parade and casino night were on the schedule.

Friday's pep rally and hamburger cookout included the announcement of the sign winners and the court presentation.

Saturday's activities began with a reunion of the 1954-56 Itawamba Junior College classes. Other events on the schedule included a barbecue lunch buffet and a performance by Itawamba Community Colllege's All-American Band.

In addition, the Itawamba Community College choir performed the National Anthem.

Waddle was among 49 contestants who competed for the crown.

The top five contestants also included Roshunda Pope of Fulton, first alternate; Corie Stanford of Saltillo, second alternate; Lauren Gillespie of Pontotoc, third alternate and Catherine Edens of Amory, fourth alternate.

Waddle is a member of the Indian Delegation and the Indianettes at Itawamba Community College. She is majoring in radiologic technology. Her parents are Mike and Reda Waddle.

The theme of the 2006 pageant was Dream.

Contestants entered the pageant either by representing a club or organization on either the Fulton or Tupelo campus or by obtaining sponsorship on their own.

The crown

First there were 49 contestants. . .then there were 20. . .and then as excitement built at the Most Beautiful pageant, Jessica Waddle was selected to wear the crown for 2006.

Vice president of student services Mike Eaton represented ICC president David Cole in presenting Waddle's crown just after her name was called.

All contestants competed in evening gowns for judges Brett Barefoot of Oxford, Kristy Irons of Starkville and Andrea Murray of Columbus.

2005 Most Beautiful Brooke Wofford was on hand to offer congratulations.

Other program participants included Jodi McCrimon, who entertained during deliberation by the judges, and Cy Williams of ICC's speech and theatre department, who served as master of ceremonies.

A portion of the contestants' entry fees was donated to the Itawamba Community College Foundation Inc., which provides such necessities as scholarships each year.

71 students in Who's Who

More than 70 students at Itawamba Community College were selected for inclusion in Who's Who Among Students in American Junior Colleges for 2005-2006.

The who's who selections included outstanding campus leaders from both the Fulton and Tupelo campuses.

Campus nominating committees and editors of the annual directory included the names of the students based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and potential for continued success.

They joined an elite group of students from more than 1,400 institutions of higher learning in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and several foreign nations.

Outstanding students have been recognized in the annual directory since it was first published in 1966.

jammin'

Itawamba Community College students gathered at both the Fulton and Tupelo campuses to participate in Indian Week, April 25-28, 2005, a tradition at the College since 1974.

Each year, students and faculty use the games and activities to unwind before finals start the next week.

Fulton campus events included a cartoonist, inflatable games at the Crane Pavilion, and casino night on Monday; fashion and talent shows on Tuesday; laser tag in the gym, Survivor/Fear Factor contest at the Baptist Student Union and the womanless beauty review and supper with the Jazz Band at the Crane Pavilion on Wednesday; and a cartoonist and money tree game show in the cafeteria on Thursday.

On the Tupelo campus, the schedule included bingo on Monday; caricature artist Steve Gipson on Tuesday; magician Steve Thomas on Wednesday; free food, live band, inflatable games and activities, club-sponsored events and a talent show/karaoke contest on Thursday.

Playing to win

Athletes at Itawamba Community College are competitive, whether they are on the field, court or golf course. Cheerleaders braved the summer heat to prepare for the opening of the football season. Football and soccer players began practice in late summer. Baseball, basketball and tennis teams started their work in the fall. Other teams which geared up in the spring were golf and softball.

The 2005 baseball Indians just missed a berth in the World Series, but the men's tennis team advanced to the national tournament in Texas. In addition, the football team made it to the state playoffs.

Coaches spent time not only teaching skills of the sports but also ensuring that athletes performed in the classroom.

Indians finish season with honors

Itawamba Community College's Indians went down fighting, November 12, in Perkinston when the Gulf Coast Bulldogs clinched a state championship berth.

The nation's ninth-ranked Bulldogs led 48-10 in the third quarter, but the Indians roared back to cut the lead to 10 midway through the third quarter.

"It's hard to come back from that kind of deficit," said Indians All-American Desmond Jennings. "We fought hard to get back in it. I just wish we played better in the first half.

Three of ICC's football players found their way into national stats. Jennings ranked first in the nation in individual pass receiving. In eight games, he caught 54 passes for 848 yards and six touchdowns. Quarterback Thomas Kirksey completed 118 of 161 passes for 1,436 yards, a 73.2 percentage and the second best in the United States. He also ranked eighth in the nation in total offense and twelfth in the nation with 18 non-kicking TDs. Punter Tommy Pharr ranked seventh in the nation with 40 punts for 1,642 yards and a 41.05 average.

In addition, Nick Hathcock was an academic All-America nominee.

Several Indians were selected as All-State and All-Region. All-State, All-Region selections included Nick Dean, Jennings, Jeremy Yates, Tommy Pharr and Lester Brooks. All-state second team were Kirksey, Chris Johnson and Desmond Ware. Honorable mention All-State were Justin Bursi, Eric Walls, Andre Garth, Hathcock, Kareem Moore and Terrance Jones.

Clockwise from left, Ricky Stokes, the Indians' leading rusher, scrambles for more yardage. All-State players Jeremy Yates and Lester Brooks get into the action for the Indians. Terrance Jones, who led the state in sacks, and Quad Sanders hold off the Coahoma Tigers.

Clockwise from top, Indian honorable mention all-state selections Quad Sanders, Kareem Moore, Romeill Dunlap and Justin Bursi mix it up with the Mississippi Delta Trojans. Second team All-State quarterback Thomas Kirksey lets the pass go against the Trojans. All-State defensive back Jeremy Yates does his job against Delta.

Desmond Jennings, ICC first All-American selection since 2000, catches a pass for more yardage for the Indians.

"It's hard to come back from that kind of deficit (against the Mississippi Gulf Coast Bulldogs in the playoff game). We fought hard to get back in it. I just wish we had played better in the first half."

Short season goes well

Due to extenuating circumstances surrounding the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina and its impact on the Mississippi Gulf Coast, the Mississippi Association of Community and Junior College presidents made an executive decision to delay the start of the 2005 football season until the week of September 19. Most schools including ICC began practice in mid-August.

ICC 38, Coahoma 0

Itawamba Community College began its season at home this year. The Indians performed very well offensively and held their own on defense as well.

ICC 0, Northeast 41

The Indians faced their rival Northeast Tigers in Booneville for their first road game. Both offense and defense left a bit to be desired. The Indians finished the game with six fumbles and a mere 106 yards on offense.

ICC 24, Holmes 0

Rick Stokes, DeMario Crump and Desmond Jennings each topped 100 yards while playing the Bulldogs. The Indians didn't lose a fumble this game.

ICC 34, Mississippi Delta 10

The Indians picked up 21 of their points in the first half of the Homecoming game due to turnovers by the Trojans. Tray Stanfield caught and made a 42-yard return on an interception.

The Indians had momentum moving into the second "half" of their season that eventually propelled them into the JUCO playoffs on the Miississippi Gulf Coast. However, the Bulldogs prevailed in the shootout, which allowed them to advance to the state championship game.

ICC 24, Southwest 13

This on-the-road victory was greatly owed to Desmond Jennings and the 196 yards and one touchdown for which he was responsible.

ICC 29, Northwest 21

Itawamba Community College's Indians managed to pull out a win over the nationally-ranked Northwest Rangers. This victory was the final push that the Indians needed to send them to the playoffs.

18-member squad cheers for Indians

Nine men and nine women composed Itawamba Community College's cheerleading squad for 2005-2006.

Tryouts were held in March 2005.

The cheerleading squad, under the direction of first year coach Mande Miller, entertained the crowds at football and basketball games with stunts and routines.

ICC and the cheerleading squad served as hosts for the NCA cheerleading summer camp in July 2005.

"This squad was very dedicated, and they practiced even when it was not required," Miller said. "This past year's cheerleading squad went above and beyond expectations in performing their routines. I am very proud to have worked with this fine group of young people."

Cheerleader squad like family

The primary goal for cheerleading at Itawamba Community College is keeping the spirits of the players up and making sure the crowds at football and basketball games are behind the Indians and Lady Indians.

When cheerleaders become a part of the ICC squad, it's part of a family, said sponsor Mande Miller.

Veterans expected to provide leadership

A lot of questions surrounded the men's program heading into this season. All five starters from a year ago were gone and were making an immediate impact at their four-year schools.

According to head coach Marty Cooper, his prized recruiting class was quite talented, but would need to be nurtured by two returning players, Titus Penro and Jason Elzie. "We had 18 people on our roster," Cooper said, "and only two had experience playing for the Indians." Larricus Brown and Dell Coleman led the front line, and Justin Duke provided a spark off the bench.

As for the Lady Indians, head coach Carrie Ball-Williamson knew she had veteran guards coming back in Kim Stanfield and Latanya Williams. Both would have to play at a high school level each game along with returning post player, Jenci Long, if ICC would reach its goals set before the season. The incoming freshman class lost one of its top players even before the season started as the injury bug bit Keisha Shumpert, who was expected to help shoulder the load. Lack of consistency and focus were the two main culprits for the roller coaster season. When they came out focused, the results were positive, Ball said. When they didn't they usually lost.

Coach pins hopes on sophs

Lady Indians head coach Carrie Ball-Williamson hoped her sophomores would help vault her 2005-06 campaign into a great start.

However, the beginning was really slow, losing the first four face offs and that concerned the veteran head coach. She started seeing that improvement right before the holiday break as her Lady Indians ripped off five victories in seven games and took a 5-6 mark into Christmas.

Once again, the second half of the season started slow with the team losing a couple in a row on the road before catching fire again thanks to better shooting from the field and the free throw line. One of the key victories was a 62-58 win over the defending state champions, the Mississippi Delta Lady Trojans.

That win along with several others put ICC right back into the race to grab one of the four north division playoff spots. At press time, ICC was approaching the 500 mark.

Kim Stanfield was the team’s leading scorer and three-point shooter and was tied for the leader in steals with Latanya Williams, who was second on the squad in scoring and led the team in assists. Jenci Long was the Lady Indians’ leading rebounder and free throw shooter. Ginnell Scott was a close second in free throw shots while Keona Blanchard led in blocked shots and taking charges on defense.

ICC starts with little experience

After rebuilding his team from the ground up, ICC head men's basketball coach Marty Cooper and his Indians began the season by winning five straight games. What made this stellar start even more remarkable was that only two of his players had ever worn an Itawamba Community College jersey.

The Indians lost three straight games at the prestigious Three Rivers Holiday tournament in Missouri during the Thanksgiving break. Cooper was not surprised with the three defeats against more experienced programs on the road. ICC took a 7-5 mark into the Christmas break.

Missed free throws and turnovers continued to hurt the Red and Blue at the beginning of the second half of the season, but the Indians began turning it around with better focus and more intensity on both ends of the court, and when this yearbook went to press, ICC stood two games over the 500 mark and in great shape to make a return trip to the state and Region 23 tournaments.

With only two sophomores on the squad, the freshmen should be able to put together a kind of season next year that will be similar to the 2004-05 edition that advanced to the state semifinals and won 19 while losing only nine.

Hurricanes affect ICC's fall schedule

Hurricanes Katrina and Rita, which ravaged the Mississippi Gulf Coast, affected Itawamba Community College's fall sports schedule.

The football team didn't begin its season until the second week in September, when the Indians trounced Coahoma on their road to the state playoffs. Mississippi Gulf Coast's Bulldogs ended the Indians' quest for a state title.

ICC's men's soccer team finished the 2005 season with a 6-6 record overall and 5-5 in the North Division.

The women's soccer team won the prestigious Tom Shepard award for sportsmanship for the least amount of cards on the year.

ICC's baseball coaches used the fall season to evaluate their players for the 2006 spring season. They found their best 9, 10 and 11 hitters, but were still trying to determine the four-pitcher rotation.

Both men's and women's basketball teams started their seasons in November and were still playing in late January, when the 2006 Mirror was sent to the printer.

Fall baseball is considered time for the team to prepare and make evaluations for the spring season.

After Itawamba Community College finished 11th in the nation last season, Coach Rick Collier had a difficult assignment during the fall season, which he said would not be easy.

Collier needed to replace three All-Americans along with other key sophomores. However, he did help the Indians' cause by signing two quality players last summer including Alabama Player of the Year Nick Wheeler of Hokes Bluff and Booneville's middle infielder Cody Grisham.

"As for the fall, we had a very productive campaign," Collier said. "We found out our best 9, 10 and 11 hitters and all that was left was figuring out our top four pitchers for our rotation which we did in January."

Josh Robinson and Nathan Cullum also looked good on the mound in the fall. Clay Weatherford and Nick Wheeler were the top two hitters.

Just short of playoffs

Itawamba Community College's men's soccer team finished the 2005 season with a 6-6 overall record and 5-5 n the North division.

The Indians had visions of returning to the state playoffs at the beginning of the season.

However, a couple of key injuries along with a couple of close defeats computed into a fourth place finish in the North, just one point behind Holmes for third place, as opposed to last year's third place finish in the state.

Coach Mike Sullivan's squad did end the season on a good note by knocking off Holmes in the regular season finale in Fulton. The Indians bettered the visiting Bulldogs, 2-0, on goals by Harris Faucette and Jay Barry. It was goalie Gerry Logan's second shutout in three days for ICC as the Pontotoc County native had three saves on the afternoon.

Luke Stanford of Tupelo, the Indians' co-captain with Holland Yeates of Tupelo, received the Most Valuable Player award at the team's annual banquet.

Another former Tupelo High School standout, Harris Faucette, was named the squad's offensive player of the year. The Indians' best defensive player was Cody Abrams of Meridian, who was named first-team All-State by the league's coaches.

Jay Barry received the most goals award (five) with David Shumaker edging Barry for the most points scored honor with 11 compared to Barry's 10 points.

The prestigious Indian award went to former Caledonia High School product Willie Boyd.

Itawamba Community College closed out its second season of women's soccer with a tough 2-0 loss against Northwest. ICC goalie Megan Harper had 13 saves including, according to coach Mary Robin Coggin, two big-time stops.

"Unfortunately that second save injured Megan, and she had to sit out the rest of the game," Coggin said. Jackie Thomas came in and finished the final five minutes of the game in the nets.

Emily Stockton, who was named All-State, was also selected as the best offensive player after her seven goals and two assists this season.

Co-Most Valuable Players were Amanda Wesson and Harper.

Saltillo's Kayle Patterson was named best defensive player while Nettleton's Farren Young was selected as the most improved.

Cassie Bailey of Guntown and Jenna Dixon of Corinth were the team captains.

In addition, the Lady Indians were the recipient of a statewide honor, the Tom Shepard award, which is the sportsmanship award given to the team in the state that has the least amount of cards on the year.

Golf trip kicks off ICC spring schedule

The spring sports schedule at Itawamba Community College began January 31 when the golf team traveled to Biloxi for the Gulf Coast Invitational. The team's schedule included five additional tournaments.

The Indian baseball team finished its season two wins shy of going to Millington, Tenn. for a World Series berth. ICC's squad posted a 41-16 record and added a third straight North Division title. The Indians also earned the Region 23 North crown.

ICC's men's tennis team tied with Meridian for the state championship. Several players earned state titles in both singles and doubles. In early June, the Indians competed in the national tournament in Plano, Tex. where they finished 18th. Brian Palmer, Adam Watson and Matt Johnston all won singles' matches for Itawamba Community College.

Jared Koon was named to the third-team All-American squad.

As a team, ICC finished with a number 11 national ranking. The Indians were 41-16 and added a third straight North Division title while capturing the Region 23 North crown before bowing to nationally-ranked St. Catharine, Ky. at the Super Regional in the Bluegrass state.

Lady Indians start with bang

The 2005 Itawamba Community College softball season started with a bang.

After sweeping Holmes Community College in Goodman on March 1 and taking the first game of a doubleheader with Jackson State in Tennessee two days later, the Lady Indians stood 4-2 record-wise. ICC went into a two-week slump, but broke out of that with an impressive sweep of Jones County Junior College on the road in Ellisville, March 30, 4-2 and 4-3.

Other highlights from the 2005 season were lopsided sweeps at home and on the road against Coahoma Community College. The Lady Indians outscored the Lady Tigers 25-0 in the two wins in Fulton and 38-1 in two blowouts in Clarksdale.

Head coach Mary Robin Coggin's program also pulled off a doubleheader sweep of Southwest Tennessee Community College of Memphis, Tenn. on April 19 in Fulton, 3-2 and 2-1 in eight innings.

Itawamba Community College finished the season with a 13-26 mark overall and 5-11 inside the difficult North division.

Coggin looks for better '06

Itawamba Community College lost several key players from that squad including Audrey Fisher, who Coach Mary Robin Coggin calls the best player to ever play softball for the Lady Indians.

Also graduating was the inspirational leader of the team, outfielder Megan Webb.

After losing her mother the first day of her college career at ICC and her father less than 18 months later, Webb sported a nearly perfect 3.98 GPA. With no source of income and a little brother to take care of, a trust fund was established and also ICC hosted a benefit clinic to assist the Webb children.

"Not only was Megan a wonderful student, her athletic talent is beyond comprehension," Coggin said. "She was a team player, always thinking of her team and not herself. She performed above the norm every day and worked harder than everyone else."

Replacing Webb, Fisher and several others won't be easy, but with the returning players and a nice signing class, the Lady Indians hoped for better results this spring.

Teams start year with different expectations

The Itawamba Community College tennis teams started the 2005 season with totally different expectations.

Head coach Paul Johnson felt his men's team would be contenders coming off a second place finish the year before at the state tourney. Johnson said his players were motivated to take it to the next level, and that's exactly what they did. The Indians shared the state and region 23 titles with another perennial power, Meridian, and also finished 18th in the country.

The first-year players were a huge help combined with the two sophomores, Adam Watson and Erick Duran. A third returning player, Brandon Harris, was injured before the season and was medically red-shirted.

As for the Lady Indians, Johnson knew his work was cut out for him. ICC lost two players at mid-term and were scrambling to find replacements. . .not a good equation to compete in this league.

Johnson did return some players, and sophomores Anna Claire Wood and Melinda Edwards, helped the cause.

Freshmen Anna Rogers and Jenna Grace Chamblee also played well for the Lady Indians.

Johnson made sure he wouldn't be shorthanded in '06 as he signed his best class ever at ICC in women's tennis. Combine that with a fantastic fall and it's no wonder that his expectations were high.

Women finish 7th in state

Lindsey Collins returns a serve.

The ICC women's tennis team for the spring 2005 season consisted of only five women. However, they didn't let their small size stop them from succeeding. The team finished with a 3-4-1 record.

They opened with a rare tie against the Lady Bulldogs. Anna Rogers and Melinda Edwards picked up the two points for the Lady Indians by winning their singles matches.

The team also finished seventh in the state where three of the players advanced including Jenna Grace Chamblee, Anna Rogers and Anna Claire Wood, who lost their matches.

Two of the Lady Indians competed in the October national tournament in Florida, a first for the Itawamba Community College tennis program. The doubles team of Lindsey Collins of Fulton and Marija Djuran, who played high school tennis in Oxford, finished sixth in the NJCAA division. "I was proud of Lindsey and Marija," said head coach Paul Johnson, who witnessed all three contests in Fort Myers, Fla. "They were in every match, and they weren't intimidated by any of them."

Men grab share of state title

The ICC men's tennis team had an outstanding spring 2005 season.

Their dedication was documented through their 7-4-0 record.

The Indians opened the season with an impressive win over the Holmes Bulldogs and continued that success through the state championship where they earned co-champ status. The team also finished 18th in the United States at the national tournament in Plano, Tex., where Adam Watson, Brian Palmer and Matt Johnston all won singles' matches for ICC.

In addition, several players earned state titles including Palmer who won #6 singles over Meridian. He also teamed with Matt Whiteside to capture the #2 doubles state title over Meridian. Miller Vance grabbed a state title in the #5 singles and the #1 duo of Matt Johnston and Erik Duran were victorious in their quest for a state title.

The team's coach was Paul Johnson, who completed his 13th year in that position at ICC.

Golf team tees off in January

Itawamba Community College golf coach David Rather began his 15th season in charge of the Indians. Normally, the team tees off in March, but not last year. Rather's team headed to Biloxi for the Gulf Coast Invitational on January 31.

"This is the earliest we've ever started a season," Rather said. Thirteen community colleges played the two-day event at The Bridges Golf Resort and at Great Southern Golf Course.

"We did not have good weather," Rather said. "In fact only one of the two rounds was completed. Let's put it this way, a 79 made the all-tourney team. The conditions were not good."

ICC's schedule included tournaments at Eagle Ridge (Hinds), Wolf Hollow (Copiah-Lincoln), Mississippi State University (Mississippi Gulf Coast), the MACJC State and Region 23 (Shiloh Ridge) and Corinth (Northeast Mississippi Community College).

Students are involved

Several clubs at Itawamba Community College are focused on careers and how to make the transition to the workplace or to the university setting.

Among those are Delta Epsilon Chi, which is the collegiate arm of the Distributive Education Clubs of America. This year, the organization was involved in many activities including a blood drive and selling pottery pieces to benefit St. Jude, Christmas cards and candy. The group also participated in the LeBonheur radiothon by answering phones and taking pledges. Lynn Collier was the sponsor.

Skills USA is a club for students who are majoring in technologies at Itawamba Community College. The members planned to participate in state and national competitions in their areas of expertise. The group's sponsor was Jason Gholston.

In addition, one club focused on the needs of students who are older than the traditional high school age. The Slightly Older Students group offered tutoring and mentoring opportunities for those who participated. Programs were designed to acclimate the students for the college setting. Mande Miller was the club sponsor.

Stephen Banes served as the sponsor of the Agribusiness Club.

The Forestry Club consisted of 30 members who met several times throughout the year.

The group had several cookouts including one where wild game was served.

Another focus of the year was the opportunity to learn from various speakers including Dr. Keith Belli, Dr. George Hopper, Dr. James Shepherd and Dr. William Leighton, all of Mississippi State University.

An additional activity included attendance at the Mississippi State Community College Student Expo. The club sponsor was Emily Loden, who has completed her first year as forestry instructor at ICC.

Clubs learn from speakers

Members of the Science Club and the Computer Programming and Networking Association at Itawamba Community College are on separate campuses, but both groups picked up valuable data about possible careers in their fields from speakers.

CPNA, met on the second Wednesday of every month at noon in the Health Occupations Building Lecture Demonstration Room at the Tupelo campus.

Speakers included Elizabeth Hamm, investment counselor with BancorpSouth; Adrian Bradley of Autozone and Deborah Tierce of Itawamba Community College.

Community service projects for CPNA included collection for a child from the Angel Tree at Christmas. The group also provided a $150 scholarship in memory of Claude M. Faulkner, former computer instructor at ICC.

The Science Club participated in several events this year. Projects included design of a sign for Homecoming.

Members met every month on the first Thursday for about 30 minutes to discuss various areas in science. A mortician visited the club at its Halloween party to discuss the various aspects of his job. At Christmas, the program focused on a veterinarian who shared tips to keep pets safe during the holidays. Sponsors were Sarah Mattox and Lauren Aderholt.

Clubs provide experience

Several clubs at Itawamba Community College provide experience and information for students who are majoring in the allied health programs including physical therapy assistant, radiologic technology and respiratory therapy.

The Physical Therapy Assistant club consisted of 22 members who attended MPTA state meetings as well as the MPTA student conclave. The group met on the first Wednesday of every month. Sponsors were Cheryl Ware and Tom Hester.

The Radiologic Technologists organization included 42 members who met on the second Tuesdays in Health Science 106. Activities were attendance at the annual meeting of the Mississippi Society of Radiologic Technologists and raised money to help support members of the DMORT team who were X-raying bodies to determine their identity on the Mississippi Gulf Coast following Hurricane Katrina. Officers were Tonia Botts, president; Morgan Atkins, vice president; and Cindy Dillard, treasurer.

The Respiratory Therapy organization focused on providing career information for those majors. Sponsors were Harold Plunkett and Jim Newell.

Allied health assists

Allied health students at Itawamba Community College participated in projects for better communities.

With 50 members, the Nurses Christian Fellowship met the first Wednesday of each month. Projects included breast cancer awareness information day, food basket for a needy family at Thanksgiving, a raffle, two scholarships for nursing students and collection of clothes for the IAHS/Itawamba County Clothes Closet.

The Health Occupations Students of America met every first Thursday at the Tupelo campus. Activities included a blood drive on October 5, Mississippi HOSA fall leadership conference on November 12, and district and state conferences.

The 32 members of the Student Health Information Management Association met every month on the Tupelo campus. The members attended the Northeast Council of the Mississippi Health Information Management Association at different locations every other month as well as the state meeting.

The 130 members of the Student Nursing Association met the third Wednesday of each month at activity period in the Health Science Building at the Fulton campus.

Clubs look at other cultures

The International Club and the Modern Language Club are organizations that provide their members insight into other cultures and languages.

The International Club affords an opportunity for students to learn about the world around them. The members attended an international festival at the University of Mississippi Oxford campus in the fall. Also, the group met every other Tuesday at lunch, and programs included members such as Henry Obiang and Michael McGeown presenting information about their countries. Ric Chandler served as sponsor.

The Modern Language Club focuses on languages of the world. Members won first place in the Homecoming sign competition. They adopted two Children from the Angel Tree and bought toys and clothes during the holiday season. In the spring, the members visited Itawamba Community College's child care center and taught the children numbers, colors and basic vocabulary in Spanish and French. Adviser was Jolene Hoots, modern language instructor.

Members of Phi Beta Lambda and Students in Free Enterprise focused on careers in majors related to business.

The 12 members of Phi Beta Lambda met the first and third Wednesday of every month in Administration 106 at the Tupelo campus. Activities included selling pumpkins for the March of Dimes during October, community service visits with Ms. Mary in the nursing home, representation at the monthly student activities meeting, fall leadership training and state and leadership competitions.

Students in Free Enterprise, which has been an active club for the last 20 years at ICC, is an international organization with 1,800 member schools in more than 40 countries.

The SIFE team includes approximately 25 students who conduct free enterprise education outreach projects to schools on such topics as ethics, investments, effects of foreign trade, entrepreneurship and public service announcements.

Members met on the second and fourth Mondays in Business Education 5.

The team presented a three-part program dealing with personal investing, the Wellspring project and identity theft in February. It also competed in national competition in Memphis, Tenn. in April.

SGA is ICC's voice

The Student Government Association is the voice of Itawamba Community College's students on both the Fulton and Tupelo campuses.

The groups have organized fundraisers for the displaced Hurricane Katrina victims and assisted with Homecoming activities last fall at ICC.

The Fulton campus's SGA challenged other groups to pick up litter as part of a beautification effort by adopting the area behind the Student Center to patrol.

Members of the Tupelo campus SGA sponsored an Angel Tree drive and donated gifts to the Salvation Army.

Fulton SGA officers were Ashley Price, president; Nick Hathcock, vice president; Gilbert Comola, secretary and Amario Cole, treasurer; and representatives Kayla Fowlkes, Lindsey Collins, Corie Stanford, Lauren Gillespie, Megan Gibson and Kelly Dillard.

Sponsors were Buddy Collins at the Fulton campus and Cynthia Adams at the Tupelo campus.

PTK involved in community

Phi Theta Kappa has been extremely busy this year with numerous activities and projects.

The Fulton campus group, which numbered 150 members, tailgated with the Tigers in September (members of the PTK chapter at Northeast Mississippi Community College), rode the ICC Christmas float at several area parades during December and participated in Big Brothers/Big Sisters.

Fulton campus sponsors included Bronson Prochaska, Sandy McFarling, Robin Lowe and Jolene Hoots.

On the Tupelo campus, 17 new members were inducted as members during the fall semester. Sponsors Janae Hagan and Delena Hukle led their members in many projects to assist the community as well as hosted bake sales as fundraisers during the FBLA and HOSA conferences.

Both the Fulton and Tupelo campus groups worked together on several projects including a cheese sale fundraiser, sponsoring "Butts on Campus" (the Great American Smokeout) on November 17 and purchasing gifts for children on the Angel Tree.

Phi Theta Kappa celebrated its Founder's Day during Good as Gold Week with a continental breakfast for faculty and staff, November 16. Also during the week, the Fulton campus members served cookies to commemorate the event.

Public relations is focus

Each year, Itawamba Community College gives students an opportunity to participate in two groups that assist with public relations and student recruiting.

During 2005-06, members of the Modeling Squad represented ICC through civic appearances and modeling activities such as fashion shows. The participants were selected through tryouts held at the beginning of each semester.

The Fulton and Tupelo Indian Delegations contributed greatly to ICC recruiting efforts through visits to high schools in the College's five-county service district including Chickasaw, Itawamba, Lee, Monroe and Pontotoc and participation in career fairs and college days.

In addition, members of the recruiting team on both campuses stayed busy with campus tours.

Delegates also participated in student orientation sessions in the summer as well as made appearances at several Christmas parades throughout the holiday season.

Itawamba Community College offered students the opportunity to show off their creative talents through the art and language clubs.

The groups included Projections, Sign Language and Art Club.

Projections, sponsored by Dr. Ken Bishop of the English faculty, consisted of 12 members. Dr. Bishop and his students, who were enrolled in the creative writing class, attended book signings and an annual workshop to promote creative writing.

The Art Club sponsored various art related activities and field trips including a memorable trip by the 30 members to the Brooks Museum of Art in Memphis, Tenn. Art department chairman Tom Douglas sponsored the group.

The Sign Language Club, sponsored by interpreter training instructor Sue Goldman, emphasized not only sign language but also body language. The members attended homecoming at the Mississippi School for the Deaf.

Faith-based organizations

Several students at Itawamba Community College chose to be a part of religious organizations including Baptist Student Union, Wesley Foundation and Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

The Baptist Student Union offers a place for students to worship and fellowship with others. Activities include Wednesday luncheons in the BSU Center with attendance ranging from 100-150, group Bible study on Wednesday nights, participation in the Fulton Christmas parade and Scream and Worship teams. In addition, several members participated in missions including two who were selected to go to Hawaii. Chris Burrows serves as BSU director.

The Wesley Foundation also provided a place for students to participate in ministry, worship, fellowship with other students and for quiet time. The group began the year with a new activities leader, the Rev. Ginger Jones Holland and a newly renovated building. Some activities included short devotionals at noon on Mondays in the Student Services Building banquet room, basketball games at the Fulton First United Methodist Church Christian Life Center and home cooked dinners on Tuesdays.

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes also offered students an opportunity for a faith-based life. FCA provided support for athletes both on and off the field. Coach Jeff Terrill was sponsor.

Working on deadline

Members of the Mirror staff worked diligently on three deadlines to accommodate the new printer for the 2006 yearbook.

The 2005-06 chapter of Itawamba Community College's history was recorded by staff members; photos were selected and layout and design and typesetting was accomplished on the Macintosh computer using QuarkExpress.

The 216 pages were copied to a disc and submitted to Multi-Media Technology representative John Trotter of Poplarville in October, December and late January.

Editors Adrienne Pearson and Kimberly Davis led the staff which included Kandiace Gray, Candace Parker, Candice Nance, Katrina Jones, Angela Pettit, Anna Catherine Oswalt, Jenna Williams, Melissa Lofton, Chase McGuire, Natalie Beam, Kayla Fowlkes, Natalie Carter, Melinda Myatt, Samantha Flippo, Jennifer Carouthers, Bonnie Dowden, Stephanie Gregory, Telina Knight and Karen Morgan.

Others assisting with the publication of the Mirror were adviser Donna Thomas and assistants Connie Yielding and Kim Wiygul Williams.

Staff write variety of stories

Members of Itawamba Community College's Chieftain staff produced typically a 12-page newspaper each month beginning in September and ending just before graduation in May.

The paper, which was printed by the Northeast Mississippi Daily Journal, was distributed on both the Fulton and Tupelo campuses in racks in almost all buildings.

Staff members selected from a list of stories including news, features, sports, reviews and opinion articles. Typically they had approximately three weeks to submit their stories.

Education is focus

Three of Itawamba Community College's clubs deal with education-based issues even though they cover the entire spectrum of that subject.

The Future Educators of America normally met the first Thursday of each month at 12:15 p.m. in Humanities 216. The major goal, said sponsor Fisher Fleming, was to provide students with as much information to make their teaching careers as successful and fulfilled as possible. Topics covered included the PRAXIS, scholarships and general teaching tips. Officers were vice president Fred Hadley and secretary Candice Spencer.

ICC's Political Science Club reorganized at the beginning of the spring semester with 15 members, and as co-sponsor Clint Boals said, expected growth. The group met Thursdays at 1 p.m. in Humanities 202. Officers included president Kayla Killough, vice president Travis Junkins, secretary Melonie Stewart and reporter Joshua Tillman. Dean Burchfield was co-sponsor.

The 22 members of MECA met on the first Wednesday of each month in Tech. Ed. 205 with sponsors Carol Bishop and Mitzi Ward. Activities included a bake sale, Week of the Young Child, Trike-A-Thon, and Halloween trick-or-treating.

Classic rock at halftime

During the 2005 fall semester, the Itawamba Community College All-American Band performed at halftime of the home football games in a season that was shortened by the hurricanes that devastated the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Under the field direction of Beth Chrestman of Hernando, Jason Gunn of Corinth and Tekela Spraggins of Woodland, the All-American Band performed a collection of classic rock selections.

The show included "Jumpin' Jack Flash," "Vehicle," "Born to Be Wild," "Get It On," "Satisfaction," and "Whiter Shade of Pale," which featured the drums and mallet.

The All-American Band started practice for its football halftime shows during a three-day camp at the Fulton campus just prior to the beginning of the fall semester.

In addition, the All-American Band members practiced four times a week from 3:30-5 p.m. during the fall semester to polish their show before taking the field.

Not only did the band perform at halftime or pre-game, but it also played the National Anthem as well as pumping up the crowd with the "Indian Warpath."

ICC's All-American Band also served as the exhibition band at a contest in Winfeld, AL.

Performances include parades

In addition to the performances at halftime of football games, ICC's All-American Band performed on campus during several other occasions.

The Symphonic Band joined the choir and various ensembles in the Christmas Gala at the Fulton campus in the W.O. Benjamin Fine Arts Center auditorium, December 7.

The band also marched in six Christmas parades including Nettleton, Tupelo, Fulton, Mantachie, Pontotoc and Aberdeen.

The All-American Band was under the direction of first-year director Brian Gilllentine of Amory, Christy Colburn (guard instructor) of Amory, and Tim Huckaby of Futlton (percussion).

The Symphonic Band also toured and performed for high schools in ICC's five-county district.

After marching season, the members had to try out for one of three bands: Symphonic Band under the direction of Gillentine, A band directed by Huckaby and B band under the direction of Colburn. Later in the spring semester, the A and B bands were combined.

At the conclusion of the 2005-06 year, both bands joined for a final spring concert.

Small Groups

Work goes into ensembles

Itawamba Community College's most talented musicians — selected on the basis of tryouts — participate in the Jazz Band and the ensembles including Brass, Woodwind and Percussion.

Directors include Brass, Brian Gillentine; Woodind, Christy Colburn, Percussion, Tim Huckaby and Jazz Band, Cass Patrick.

The groups performed at various locations during the fall and spring semester including several church appearances.

Each group practiced twice a week for one and a half hours.

The rehearsals consisted of warming up and tuning the instruments, followed by work on the songs they have selected for performance.

Each ensemble and the Jazz Band selected and performed three songs.

The Jazz Band, which performed at some of the basketball games along with the Pep Band, consisted of several different instruments that blended their sounds together to produce lively, upbeat music, for which the group is noted.

The ICC Brass, Woodwind and Percussion Ensembles did a pre-concert performance before the Christmas Gala, December 7.

Choir blends voices

Under the direction of Karen Davis, the Itawamba Community College concert choir is composed of both music and non-music majors.

The 85 choir members sang the National Anthem at Homecoming and participated in the Christmas Gala.

During the spring semester, the choir performed a joint concert with the group from Northeast Mississippi Community College in February at the Link Centre in Tupelo.

The choir also went to the State Junior College Choir Festival at Jones County Junior College in Ellisville, where it sang individually as a choir and then together as a mass choir. The spring concert was April 24.

In addition, the chamber singers performed at the joint concert with Northeast and at the festival and with the ensembles on November 15. The group also performed at area high schools in the spring to assist with recruiting.

Each group performed 15 songs this year.

The choir met every Tuesday and Thursday for 80 minutes.

CenterStage is high-energy

CenterStage, which is in its third year at Itawamba Community College, is a high-energy choreographed vocal ensemble with band accompaniment.

The group represents ICC at numerous public functions and serves as a major recruiting tool for area schools.

Members of CenterStage are musicians and singers who are selected through an audition process.

Members of the group receive training and experience in the musical field, but also learn the value of working together as a team.

CenterStage directors are Karen Davis and Jeff Myers.

The members also trained with a professional choreographer from Chicago.

Fall Production

Laughter is play's focus

April Wren, Mauriesa Johnson, Blake McClendon, Brittany Wilemon and Kate Chamblee remember Buford's passing at the piano.

Heavenly Highway Hymns

The dysfunctional Turnover family returning home to Lowake, Texas to await the death of father Buford (Wesley Hayes) was the focus of ICC's production of "Daddy's Dyin'. . .Who's Got the Will?" which was staged at the Fulton campus, November 9-11.

All of the Turnover children returned to their home, where beautician Sara Lee (Brittany Wilemon) had never left, anxiously awaiting the reading of Buford's will.

From promiscuous Evalita (Mauriesa Johnson) who brought home a "hippie" (Zach Dozier) to prim preacher's wife Lurlene's (Kate Chamblee) being accused of overmedicating Buford, the show overflowed with opportunities for side-splitting laughter.

Orville Turnover (Blake McClendon) brought to the stage a grumpy demeanor and an interest only in finding the will while doling out unsavory wisecracks directed toward his wife (Jessica Noe).

Mama Wheelis (April Wren), the doting and witty grandmother, took great pains in keeping her grandchildren civil during their father's last days.

Standing-room only crowds attended each performance of the dinner theatre, which was directed by Cy Williams of ICC's speech and theatre faculty.

All in the family

Both students and faculty members combine each year to form Itawamba Community College's family.

Eleven new faculty members joined the staff at the beginning of the fall semester.

Additionally, Jan Reid-Bunch, dean of Academic Instruction, was named to Mississippi's Top 40 Under 40. Pat McCormack and Lauren Gillespie were selected to represent ICC at the HEADWAE luncheon in Jackson in February. Ann Arnold and Lauren Shook were named as William Winter Scholars.

Even though faculty members were busy with their teaching load and other activities, they took time to advise students and to keep them on track.

vision

In his fourteenth year as president of Itawamba Community College, Dr. David C. Cole has expanded the vision of the College with tremendous success, especially in the areas of facilities and a team leadership concept.

"I feel that my years have been full of challenges as well as accomplishments," Cole said. "Our classrooms are full, and our parking lots at maximum capacity. We're delivering higher education to a greater number of students in our area. In the future I will continue my work with faculty, staff and students to ensure ICC fulfills its mission to provide quality education in our community."

Cole feels that partnering with the residents of ICC's district in their endeavors is vital. He is involved in several community activities including the Community Development Foundation, North Mississippi Health Services as well as church and professional organizations.

His priority is the student and ensuring that each has an opportunity for the best start.

Dr. Ken Bishop and Indian Delegate Nicole Smith share information about ICC to a group of visiting students.

ICC is family of individuals

Itawamba Community College presents a unique atmosphere for its students. The student body includes a wide range of ages, races and religions, who all have one thing in common. . .they are at both the Fulton and Tupelo campuses or involved in online classes to receive an education.

Students at ICC are provided the opportunity to meet and interact with other students from different backgrounds, cultures, hometowns, and in some cases, countries.

This allows students at ICC to broaden their horizons and to rethink any preconceived ideas regarding people different from themselves.

Just as "variety is the spice of life," the culmination of the students makes ICC an unforgettable place. All persons should leave more aware and hopefully, accepting of those whom they've met, and carry those memories throughout their lifetime.

Just as each individual is different, so are the photographs which make up the faces of ICC.

Quality is focus

Quality education and growth have been the focus at Itawamba Community College for 2005-06. Work continued on the Quality Enhancement Plan to ensure that ICC will provide adequate support for student success in high-risk courses.

Other highlights of the year included online voting in student elections, explosive enrollment increases especially in Tupelo and online classes, assistance with hurricane relief efforts, the formation of the Mississippi Corridor Consortium to explore workforce opportunities for area residents and various physical improvements at both the Fulton and Tupelo campuses.

DISASTER

Hurricanes

Hurricanes Katrina and Rita and that the havoc that they wreaked on the coasts of Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama topped the year in review.

The devastation had a ripple effect throughout the country with evacuees starting over in areas across the United States. Americans as well as its international neighbors dug into their wallets to send aid and crews to provide assistance.

In other news, the death of Pope John Paul II marked the passing of the first non-Italian pope in 455 years and ended a 26-year pontificate. He was succeeded by German Cardinal Joseph Ratzinger.

As in 2004, news from Iraq ranged from suicide bombings to the vote for new leaders and work toward a new constitution.

Not since 1994 had a Supreme Court seat become vacant. However, in 2005, there were two openings.

Crude oil prices hit an all-time peak before subsiding, and Itawamba Community College faculty and students paid more at the pump.

Attacks on three rush-hour subway trains and a bus skilled 56 people in London in July.

And, a massive earthquake near the Pakistan-India border killed more than 87,000 and left more than 3 million homeless.

SPORTS &

Entertainment

The Chicago White Sox's remarkable run to its first World Series title since 1917 topped all voters cast in the end-of-the-year poll.

Hurricane Katrina's displacement of the sports teams in New Orleans including the Saints from the Superdome also made news.

Lance Armstrong captured a seventh straight Tour de France title.

Additional sports highlights included the furor over steroids in baseball, the New England Patriots' Super Bowl victory, Southern California's attempt to win its third straight college football title and Baltimore's Rafael Palmeiro's 3000th hit and his suspension for steroids.

The entertainment world saw many changes, including the much publicized break-ups of Brad Pitt and Jennifer Anniston, Jessica Simpson and Nick Lachey, and Renee Zellweger and Kenny Chesney. Other stars, such as Tom Cruise and Katie Holmes, found love.

The music world rocked with popular acts like Greenday, Mariah Carey, and U2. Television said goodbye to Everybody Loves Raymond and celebrated the hugely popular Desperate Housewives. Ray and Million Dollar Baby swept the movie awards.

The year also saw the passing of several celebrities including Bob "Gilligan" Denver, Johnny Carson, Sandra Dee, Luther Vandross, Pat Morita, Anne Bancroft and Richard Pryor.

Colophon

In February, the final pages of the Mirror were sent to Multi-Media Technology in Poplarville to forward to the printing plant in Hong Kong. The 2,000 copies were printed and shipped by boat to the port of New Orleans to be trucked to the Fulton campus. John Trotter, sales representative, assisted with production of the 9 x 12 book, which was produced on gloss 105 paper with GL binding. The cover was done in Patriotic Blue 700 and Gorx and Die foil. Photographs were taken by Randall Sullivant and Kim Wiygul Williams. A representative of Multi-Media Technology assisted with layout and design. A special thanks goes to adviser Donna Thomas and Connie Yielding for proofreading and assisting with every page, to Will Kollmeyer for sports articles and to Jeff Brownlee for software assistance. Additional appreciation goes to the Digbys and the Canups for the use of their homes for feature pictures. Special thanks is given to the staff members who worked on their pages to correct and complete them for deadlines. "The Best Start Here" was the theme for the book because it is ICC's tag line. We hope that you have had a wonderful 2005-06. Our goal is that this edition will aid you in remembering your time here.
